

2010 Montana Voter Guide

About Montana NORML

Montana NORML, the statewide chapter of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, is Montana's oldest and largest cannabis consumers' advocacy group. Since 1998, we have worked to remove criminal prohibition on adult marijuana use.

When we started, all Montanans faced up to 6 months in jail and up to a $500 fine for possession of personal amounts of marijuana, and up to 10 years in prison for growing a single plant.

In 2004, Montana voters passed I-148 by a vote of 62%, and made marijuana legal for people with debilitating medical conditions. As of May 2010, there are some 15,000 registered patients - or around 15% of Montanans who use marijuana from time to time, for medical, personal, spiritual, social, or recreational purposes.

In the 2011 Legislature, Montana's medical marijuana law will come under attack. There is already talk of repealing it altogether. While that is unlikely to pass, legislative candidates' positions on medical marijuana are important to know, because the ways in which the medical marijuana law is restricted in 2011 will be relevant to Montana NORML's efforts to make marijuana legal for all responsible adults.

Therefore, the make-up of next year's legislature is critical. And you have a chance to help - by voting!

Why should you vote?

Voting in local, state, and federal elections is the single most significant way to participate in your democracy. Voting gives you a say in determining who will be making the important decisions that will significantly impact your life and your community. If you don't vote, your voice is not heard. Voting is especially important in a sparsely-populated state like Montana because races are often won or lost here by a handful of votes.

What's a primary election?

Montana has what is called an 'open' primary. This means that every voter will have the opportunity to vote either in the Republican primary or the Democratic primary. For example, if you choose to vote in the Republican primary, your ballot will only list names of Republican candidates. Similarly, if you choose to vote in the Democratic primary, your ballot will only list names of Democratic candidates. [Of course, both ballots will list the names of all candidates in non-partisan races, such as races for judicial offices.] The winner of the Democratic primary and the winner of the Republican primary for a particular race will be placed on the ballot for that race in the general election in November. Because less people vote in primary elections than in general elections, your primary vote is extremely important. You will help determine - often in very tight races - which Democratic or Republican candidate will go on to the general election in November.

Not all races in all districts will have a primary, but AT LEAST ONE of the races on the ballot in your area will have a primary. Everyone will be able to vote for a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives. That is why it is important to vote in the primary election. If you are an absentee voter, you will have gotten a ballot in the mail. The ballot will identify which races you will be voting on and you will be able to take your time filling out your ballot. But remember, your absentee ballot must be RECEIVED by your local elections office by June 8th. If you are not an absentee voter and you are going to vote in-person on June 8th, you will need to have researched the candidates ahead of time. NORML's voter guide is intended to help you inform yourself on issues important to you.

The Candidates

What follows is a brief guide to who's running and their positions on marijuana policy wherever possible. We didn't quiz them on any other topics, so you'll need to do your own research on where they stand on other issues important to you. We included information on all Montana legislative district candidates, including their names, contact information, party, district, position on the recent marijuana bills, responses to our surveys, and any statements made to newspapers statewide.

The recent marijuana bills we felt were relevant to this race were:

SB-326

2009's medical marijuana improvement bill SB-326 failed, but if it had passed, it would have:

- allowed a patient to buy from any caregiver
- added diabetes, post-traumatic stress disorder, hepatitis C, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, agitation of Alzheimer's disease, nail-patella syndrome, dysmenorrhea
- allowed parents to designate (rather than serve as) caregiver to their minor offspring
- allowed DPHHS to (with notice) inspect caregivers with more than 5 patients for compliance
- increased plant and possession quantities
- clarified mature vs immature plants
- clarified that that landlords cannot deny rentals based on card status
- clarified that landlords may prohibit growing on their property

A “yes” vote for SB-326 meant that the legislator supported medical marijuana and wanted to make the law work better for more patients.

HB-541

2009's decriminalization bill HB-541, which stalled on party lines in the House Judiciary Committee, would have made possession of up to 30 grams of marijuana (about an ounce) a civil infraction, punishable only by a $50 fine. Currently, an individual possessing an ounce of marijuana can be sentenced to six months in jail and fined up to $500.

A “yes” vote for HB-541 meant that the legislator believed that personal amounts of marijuana should not be a criminal offense.

Our survey questions to the candidates consisted of the following:

1.) Tax and Regulate: Our country is in the midst of a national debate on whether to treat marijuana more like alcohol, and regulate its use and sales. Would you support a proposal to build tax revenue to achieve fiscal stability through the taxation and regulation of marijuana for adults only? Why or why not? ot a farmer, but i wouldn't oppose it either. Hemp production should be regulated by the market not by the government"

2.) Hemp: Will you advocate for industrial/agricultural hemp production in the state of Montana pursuant to SJ20, which was passed in the 2009 legislative session? Why or why not?

Making Contact

When contacting public officials, always be polite, respectful, and brief. Even if an official's stated position frustrates you, you should always maintain professional decorum.

A brief video describing one especially effective way to engage with your elected leaders is here: <http://tinyurl.com/24vm2fk>

The remainder of the voter guide consists of our compiled information about legislative candidates in Montana. We'll be updating the information frequently, so please be sure to visit <http://montananorml.org/vote> for the most up-to-date version.

The details and execution of this law need to identify clearly what can and cannot be done so our communities are able to manage the impact of the law safely and respectfully."
Derek Skees	R / HD 04	Kalispell	756-1128	derekskees@gmail.com	Not Provided			Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "We change the statute to allow for over-the-counter-capsule form marijuana/THC delivery. By requiring a prescription, we control the quality and delivery of the substance. We can then more easily comply with federal law that states that public smoking of it is still illegal. It is a hot issue for those few involved, but not nearly as hot as tax reform, spending cuts and job growth."

Many of the local jurisdictions have postponed or denied allowing the sale of medical marijuana in their community while they try to figure out how to enforce the laws regarding sale and use. The current law is much too vague and makes it very difficult for law enforcement to deal with drug problems."
Dane Clark	D / HD 08	Kalispell	Not Listed	clarkforliberty@gmail.com	Not Provided			Tax & Regulate: "No. We do not have to bribe the legislative body with potential money for them to do what is right. Typical maneuver from politicians who legislate under the influence and who are drunk with power. These intoxicated spenders are totally out of control, being out of control they have to seek ways to tax/regulate everything to cover their habit of spending beyond their means. Marijuana just seems to be their tunnel visioned target now. I support the full decriminalization of Marijuana. I also support leaving adults alone with what they put into their bodies. Let them be good parents and they can control what their children do when it comes to underage drinking and smoking. The people of Montana should be able to grow whatever green herb they want and use it for their benefit in any way shape or form as long as it does not encroach on another or their property. I would like to see the all proposed legislation that NORML is working on."

							Hemp: "I support the full legalization of industrial/ag hemp. This crop is a bumper crop. The lobby that will putting up the most stink is the chemical industry and cotton industry. Let the true free market decide and from my research hemp will bring back prosperity to Montana. If elected I would wear a hemp suit and shoes during the session just to further the point." Comments: "I was fully opposed to the new zoning rule that Kalispell City Council passed outlawing further Medical Marijuana dispensaries to operate withing the city limits. This ruling was against business owners, property rights and states rights. There may be big news coming out on this and I can say no more at this time." From the Daily Interlake, May 11, 2010: Clark said the government should "leave it up to the free market and get their hands out of it." But he doesn't expect that to happen because of the potential for taxing medical marijuana. "We don't have a free market right now. It's all about the money," Clark said. He took issue with the Kalispell City Council's decision to ban new commercial medical marijuana land uses on the basis that not doing so could jeopardize federal grant money for the city. "They were concerned that if they didn't do something they would not get federal funding," he said, "and that twists everybody's arms." Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "Government intervention in the marketplace needs to end. The failed "War on Drugs" needs to end. Nonviolent drug offenders need to be released from the privatized prison system. The militarization of the police needs to end. The state is not the warden or God of the people. Husbands and wives need to start parenting again, and leaders need to lead."

Carl Glimm	R / HD 08	Kalispell	756-9052	carl@glimmforhouse.com	glimmforhouse.com		Daily Interlake, May 11, 2010: "The solution to the medical marijuana issue is in the argument that was used to pass the citizen initiative," Glimm said. "If it's a drug to treat a medical problem, it should be treated like a drug to treat a medical problem ... It's pretty easy to get a [patient] card. I don't think that was the intent of the people who fought so hard for this with chronic pain, and I don't think that was the intent of the voters." Flathead Beacon, May 25 2010: "The citizens' initiative was very vague and needs to be revised. Proponents of the initiative argued that it is a drug to treat a medical condition. If marijuana is truly a medicine, it should be obtained in the same manner as any other prescription drug. You should go to a regular doctor, get a regular prescription and go to a regular pharmacy to get it filled."

Steve Lavin	R / HD 08	Kalispell	212-0699	stevlavin4hd8@gmail.com	stevlavin4hd8.weebly.com		Daily Interlake, May 11, 2010: In his law enforcement work, Lavin said he has seen an uptick in crime related to marijuana and would rather see some research into repealing the law. "I haven't seen anywhere, read or been shown any proof that it serves medicinal purposes," Lavin said. "I just am against legalizing any illicit drugs ... I think it's something we need to investigate a little bit." Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "The state should ensure that the medical marijuana laws are used for what they are intended. People with drug sales convictions shouldn't be able to utilize this law to legitimize their drug sales and habits, which is currently occurring. The state needs to be sure to protect the citizens from the increase in violent crime and dangerous drugged driving resulting from this poorly written law."

Bryan Schutt	D / HD 08	Kalispell	755-3124	bhs@mtdig.net	Not Provided			Daily Interlake, May 11, 2010: "It was thinly written legislation," Schutt said. "We need to fill in the holes. There is potential harm in this ... How do we address this with legislation? Signage, hours, locations, no minors on site, no consumption on site — those are legitimate local regulations of that activity. To just do a blanket ban on it doesn't give us that regulatory leverage." Just as fire and health inspections cover construction and restaurants, he said, "the same type of inspections should be put in place for medical marijuana." Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "The 2009 legislation needs many upgrades. There is no systematic monitoring of caregivers and there is no monitoring of patients' usage. There is not even a requirement to list the address of growing operations. Mega-clinics must be curbed and bona-fide doctor-patient relationships must be established. Basic controls like any other legally recognized medicine could help make this experiment successful."

I did not support its legalization. More scientific research and better-written regulations should have been a priority. A pill form has been available for many years before marijuana was legalized and no studies have been able prove the therapeutic efficiency of marijuana when smoked."

Josh D. King	R / HD 11	Polson	883-9340	republican99@hotmail.com	Not Provided			Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "With the original intent for MEDICAL reasons, we have let this balloon out of control; we need to have a single source for the supplying of marijuana, controlled by private company or state government, regulated and taxed, and have a process to determine what qualifies as medical reasons for medical marijuana. Sorry to say, I'm the first to speak out at adding more government to our lives, but we have lost control of this as a people."
Janna Taylor	R / HD 11	Dayton	849-6096	jannataylor@montana.com	jannataylor.com	N		Flathead Beacon, May 25, 2010: "The initiative stated the patient must be under a doctor's supervision. That means on a regular schedule, not a prescription over the internet. No caregiver should have more than a few patients. Maybe it's time to have growers for the state, tax them, and pharmacies dispense. And marijuana is still illegal federally. Compassionate Montanans passed the initiative, but it doesn't work."

Ideally, this drug would be prescribed and distributed through normal channels (local doctors and pharmacists), and its use wouldn't subject others to second-hand marijuana smoke. However, since the federal government still deems this an illegal substance, those in the medical field are limited. Legislatively, we need to build a structure that models the mainstream pharmaceutical distribution system, including licensing and inspection of manufacturing and distribution centers. Rob Cook	R / HD 27	Brady	868-3426	robco@itbusa.com	Not Provided		Great Falls Tribune, May 24, 2010: "The current incarnation of the Montana Medical Marijuana Act is unsustainable without additional regulatory controls. Law enforcement, city attorneys, city commissioners, physicians and care givers have all weighed in on the side of further regulating this industry. Most telling is the testimony of Tom Daubert of Patients and Families United, a chief author of the original ballot initiative, when he stated that more regulation and oversight is needed. I believe that the legislative interim committee of Children, Families, Health and Human Services is on the proper path as they seek varied testimony to further refine the Medical Marijuana Act. I also believe that Montana does not need mass traveling clinics or commercial growing operations in residential neighborhoods."

Keith Thomas Melhus	R / HD 27	Conrad	271-2425	Not Provided	Not Provided			Great Falls Tribune, May 24, 2010: "Some level of reasonable compromise needs to be reached at the state level to supersede the machination and variations produced at the local levels. I don't see, specifically, why production, and even sales, in an industrial zone would interfere with anyone's expectations to any reasonable "...quite and peaceful enjoyment..." (real property law) of their own homes. Since we don't necessarily want youth to be exposed there should be a qualification as to zoning within school and residential districts. With regard to commercial sales I support, minimally, a 100 percent tax since when you take the criminal element out it isn't all that expensive to produce."

I do have concerns that some people are abusing this and that some "doctors" write prescriptions for hundreds of pot cards every weekend. I think efforts to zone or tax medical marijuana out of existence are somewhat misguided. I don't see how localities can pass laws to pre-empt state law. I would propose that we amend the criminal statutes to enhance penalties for the illegal possession or distribution of medical marijuana to persons not entitled to possess it. I would like to see a regulation that would require that all sales be recorded to include the date, amount and purchaser."

Jack Trethewey	D / HD 33	Havre	Not Listed	Not Provided	Not Provided			Great Falls Tribune, May 27, 2010: "The Legislature should never consider rescinding the measure as it was enacted by the people. However, the law needs to be reined in to return it to something closer to the original intent by limiting the conditions for which it can be used. The registration fee for a caregiver probably needs to be increased significantly in order to cover the costs incurred by the state and local governments for monitoring these operations. The number of patients a caregiver can provide for should be limited and the loophole allowing a patient to have multiple caregivers needs to be closed. Also, physicians who issue the largest number of recommendations for marijuana need to be reviewed by the state medical board to ensure that a proper doctor-patient relationship exists, just as in cases of narcotic prescriptions."

David H Brewer	D / HD 34	Havre	265-4626	brewsman@bresnan.net	Not Provided			Great Falls Tribune, May 26, 2010: "I didn't vote for it before, and I won't support it the way it stands right now. I believe the way to get around this issue is for the Legislature to make a law stating that only already registered pharmacists legally be able to transfer the script to a patient with a legal physician's prescription. I also feel that the drug be grown by legally certified farmers who have the credentials to reflect their knowledge in farming of crops. I also feel that the diagnosis be more precise and only (be accepted) after a second opinion is rendered by another physician who also is considered an expert in the field of the illness of the patient requesting the drug."

Gary MacLaren	R / HD 89	Victor	642-3887	garymaclaren@yahoo.com	garymhd89.com	N		Missouliau, May 21, 2010: "In 2004, the voters of Montana approved Initiative 148 by 62 percent. The problem is that the language of the initiative was so loosely written that much recreational use is now occurring. Doctors conduct traveling clinics and teleconferences to certify patients as needing medical marijuana. The state Board of Medical Examiners is formulating a position paper to deal with this. Students with medical marijuana cards can legally possess at school and participate in athletics, even though school policy prohibits it. There is no record of where a caregiver grows his marijuana. All of these areas need to be tightened up. Probably the easiest area to address is registration of grow sites, and recordkeeping of each patient, each transaction and where the product goes."

In general my takeaway was regulation, inspection, accountability, and that goes from the beginning to the end. If doctors are prescribing medical marijuana in an unethical way, that needs to be looked at. All the way up to the people who are growing the marijuana, they should be having health inspections. The tighter we make this law, the legitimate growers are going to thrive and it will drive away the bad actors. There are a lot of things that need to be looked at.
